

LAW AND ORDER

http://www.stltoday.com/news/local/crime-and-courts/police-identify-o-fallon-mo-man-killed-thursday-in-crash/article_efc5bf4d-b8ba-583f-b47f-7a2d51febac2.html

Police identify O'Fallon, Mo., man killed Thursday in crash on Interstate 64

By Jeremy Kohler St. Louis Post-Dispatch Apr 13, 2018

Emergency workers investigate the scene where a car ran underneath a stopped tractor-trailer, killing the driver of the car, on Interstate 64 in St. Charles County, just east of Route 364 on Thursday, April 12, 2018. Photo by Robert Cohen, rcohen@post-dispatch.com

A man who was killed Thursday when his car slammed into the back of a tractor trailer has been identified as Robert B. Hammond, of O'Fallon, Mo., police said.

Hammond, 50, was driving a 2004 Honda S2000 eastbound on Interstate 64 (Highway 40) in St. Charles County east of Highway 364 when he drove underneath the back of a 2015 Freightliner that was parked on the right shoulder, police said. The tractor trailer driver was not injured.

Hammond was pronounced dead at 1:04 p.m. by St. Charles County emergency management service crew. The crash was under investigation by the Missouri Highway Patrol.

Jeremy Kohler

Jeremy Kohler is an investigative reporter for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.